Speeds After Eloping Wife;
Receives Tag

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—(UP)—When James Soister was arrested for speeding 58 miles an hour, he had a ready alibi for Traffic Judge Louis Kaufman.

"I was chasing my wife, who was eloping with another man," Soister explained. "They were trying to leave me behind and I had to step on the gas to keep up with them."

"And did you catch them?" asked Judge Kaufman.

"No, but I would have if the officer had not forced me to the curb for speeding. I guess it really was best, though, that I didn't catch them."

Judge Kaufman suspended a $15 fine.

CRIME GROUP MAKES REPORT TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(UP)—Lack of satisfactory data on crime and punishment prevents an authoritative knowledge of the real extent of crime in this country, the Wickersham committee has reported to President Hoover.

"Statistics," said the report, third of 11 the commission was asked to make, "are needed to tell us—or at least to help tell us—what we have to do, how we are going to do it, and how far what we are doing responds to what we have to do."

The commission recommended five major steps:

1.—Centralization of statistics on federal administration of justice in one new bureau of the department of justice.

2.—Collection by the census bureau of nationwide crime data as soon as state legislation lays a proper foundation for the work.

3.—Continuation meanwhile of the development of statistics in the census bureau and justice and labor departments, preparatory to the proposed consolidation.

4.—A uniform state law for gathering and transmitting state statistics on criminal justice, so far as is required for national purposes.

5.—Greater care in gathering statistics under present methods until the new system is effective.

W. M. Baldwin, president of the Union Trust company; Harris R. Creech, president of the Cleveland Trust company and C. E. Sullivan, chairman of the board of the Central United National bank, were elected to the directorships made vacant by the resignation of the Eaton group, bringing together one of the most powerful banking groups here.

Announcement of Eaton's resignation followed closely reports that he had met with severe financial losses as a result of the collapse in stock market values, which affected many of his companies. Continental during the past week reached new lows in the history of the company.

CYRUS S. EATON RESIGNS FROM FINANCE FIRM

Entire New Board of Largest Banker in Cleveland Succeeds

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 27.—(UP)—Cyrus S. Eaton, who made a spectacular rise from a divinity student to one of America's leading financial figures, has resigned as the guiding hand and director of Continental Shares, Inc., which was organized as a $15,000,000 holding company by the Eaton-Otis interests for his enterprises.

Eaton presented his resignation as chairman and director along with those of W. R. Burwell as director and president, and M. J. Mandelbaum and Philip Wick, as directors. They have been supplanted by an entire new board representing four of the largest Cleveland banks.

Although Eaton severed all relations with Continental, he is retaining his vast holdings. Eaton, interested in many utilities and steel organizations, noted as one of the few men ever to oppose the forces of Wall Street through his blockade of the billion-dollar merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube with the Bethlehem Steel corporation a year ago.

Otis and company, of which Eaton is the junior partner, has turned on its brokerage accounts over to the E. A. Pierce and company and hereafter will confine its activities to a general investment trust.

Announcements of these two developments in the realm of finance was made yesterday, almost simultaneously, but associates of Eaton denied they were correlated.

George T. Bishop of Cleveland and New York, utility magnate and a close friend of Eaton, was elected president. He has been associated with railroads, public utilities and manufacturing throughout the country for nearly 40 years. Burwell was named vice-president.

W. M. Baldwin, president of the Union Trust company; Harris R.
Creech, president of the Cleveland
Trust company and C. E. Sullivan, chairman of the board of the Central United National bank, were elected to the directorships made vacant by the resignation of

HEAVY RAIN FALLS IN DESERT REGION

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 27.—(UP)—A heavy rain storm swept through Arizona from the Pacific coast early today leaving the heaviest precipitation of the year at Yuma, on the lower Colorado river, and in northern Arizona cities.

U. S. weather bureau officials reported that .74 of an inch of rain fell at Yuma during the early hours of the morning, while Flagstaff, Ariz., received .32 of an inch. It was still raining hard at that point.

The storm swept through the Phoenix area, but the precipitation was light. Weather officials forecast a continuation of the storm in eastern Arizona tonight, but expected a return of fair weather Tuesday.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. HOOVER IN SEVERE STORM

Exciting Experience Is Had on Weekend Cruise
Down Potomac

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(UP)—A choppy overnight return voyage in a small boat brought President Hoover to the close today of a somewhat exciting weekend experience with the elements up and down the Potomac.

The President and Mrs. Hoover, and their small party arrived back in the capital at 9 a.m.

From the time he left Washington Saturday in a stiff breeze, the chief executive found himself, his party and his 100 foot inspection boat of the commerce department fighting wind, rain, lightning and—for the Potomac river—heavy seas.

Half the time there was bright warm sunshine like there was Sunday afternoon when he disembarked from the Sequoia to celebrate the 32nd anniversary of the landing of the cavaliers on the sand desert of Cape Henry, Va., 22 miles from Norfolk. But the other half was worse than had been considered possible, like the climax of the trip, when a thunderstorm broke up the celebration as a clerk of the store joined them. The other clerks were already in the back of the store and while one bandit covered the manager, Fred Salvage, the other tied the four men up. Another clerk arriving to go to work, also was tied. The ropes were carried in the robbers' pockets.

$200 Taken From Safe; Bind Clerks

Manager of Safeway Store
Forced to Open Cash
Drawer for Thugs

A RMED with sawed-off shotguns which they had concealed under their clothing, two young bandits held up four clerks, the meat cutter and the manager of the Safeway store at La Habra this morning at 10 minutes before 7 o'clock, took $200 from the safe and disappeared in a new coupe before an alarm could be given. The hold-up men were unmasked.

The bandits entered the store shortly after the clerks had arrived and made their way to the back of the building. One of them called to the meat man, "Come here, Buddy," and both the meat man and a clerk, who was arranging vegetables in front of the store joined them. The other clerks were already in the back of the store and while one bandit covered the manager, Fred Salvage, the other tied the four men up. Another clerk arriving to go to work, also was tied. The ropes were carried in the rob-

Six Persons Hurt In Four Auto Crashes

CAR OVERTURNS AND DRIVER IS BADLY INJURED

In four automobile accidents, reported in Santa Ana and nearby over the week-end, six persons were reported injured, but only one seriously, the accident list being smaller than at any time in the past several weeks.

Lloyd Gearhart, 55, of 3842 Cleveland avenue, San Diego, suffered a fracture of the skull and serious body bruises when the car in which he was riding with his wife left the road and overturned in the north end of San Clemente Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Gearhart miraculously escaped injury. Today Gearhart's condition was reported as serious.

Two persons received cuts and bruises when three automobiles ran together at Sixth and Parton streets at 2:10 p. m. Sunday.

A car driven by Kimball Pratt, of 704 West Fifth street, with Donald Cornier as a passenger, travelling north on Parton street, collided with a machine operated by J. E. Alton, of Santa Ana Route No. 4, according to a police report.

Lancaster and Miss Jeane Johnston, 26, of 1314 North Bristol street, were hurt. They were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital and then removed to their homes. No one else in either of the other two cars were hurt.

Mrs. Lively Berton of 1131 West Third street, and Allen Berton, of the same address, were reported injured at Seventeenth and Bristol streets at 12:15 a. m. today when the car in which they were riding, driven by George Berton, collided with a car driven by J. C. Presley, of Anaheim, Route No. 2. They were taken to their homes.

Martin Flores, 30, of Pomona, was taken to the Orange County hospital at 9:30 p. m. Saturday for first air treatment for injuries received in an automobile accident which occurred near La Habra. He was not badly hurt.

gyman was reciting the Lord's Prayer.

Neither the President nor Mrs. Hoover will soon forget that experience. It was possibly the most thrilling moment and trying time since they have been in the White House.

Eighteen hours they had journeyed down the Potomac in the cramped quarters of the Sequoia to help the Tidewater association of Virginia women commemorate the landing of the first permanent American colonists. About 8,000 persons were crowded into the sandy well of a natural sand dune amphitheater at the tip of the cape. Mr. Hoover wore his silk hat and Mrs. Hoover a pretty new lilac colored bonnet. Both were ruined in the downpour, which began five minutes after the ceremonies started.

While girl scouts ran screaming for the cover of the stands, the president and first lady stood with the rain beating down upon them, not moving an inch. Even Bishop Thomson of the Episcopal church, the radio microphones in front of him, was forced to stop his prayer.

Five minutes in the downpour compelled the executive to give up. As he stepped out of the stands on the return walk to a special train the rain stopped. But when he reached the tracks and found the train "gone somewhere" to turn around, the rain started up again, heavier than before.

The President and Mrs. Hoover took refuge in a tea room where they were marooned half an hour while hundreds of excited citizens, who had never seen a president, milled around him at arms length. The train and a long-sought motor car arrived at the same time, and Mr. Hoover chose the motor for the 10-mile return trip to the Sequoia.

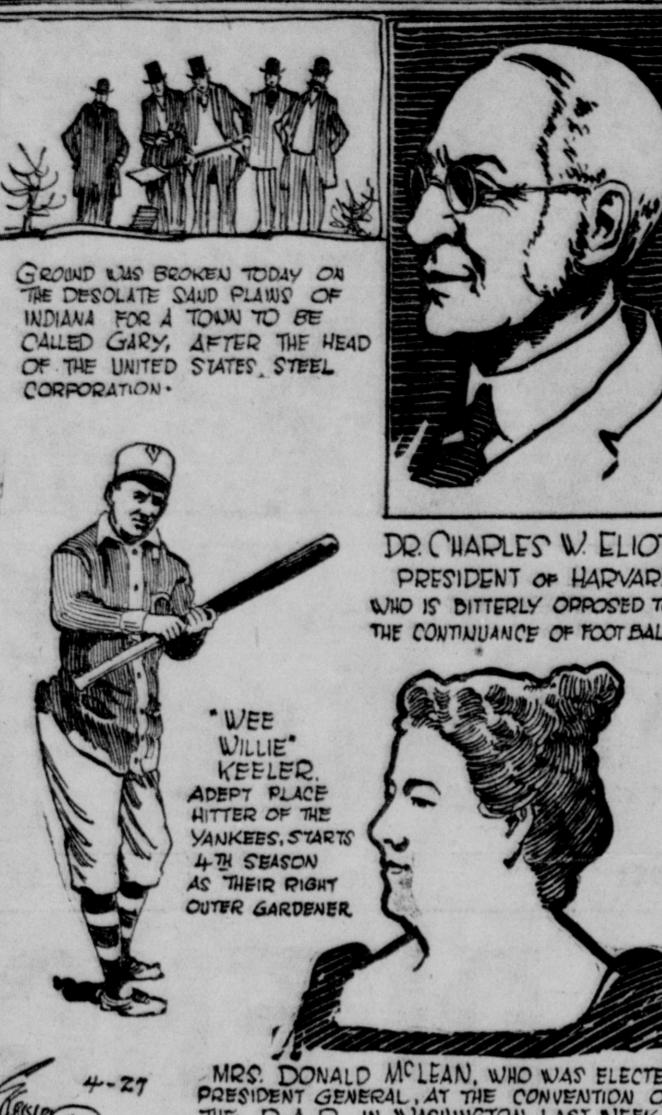

With a mocking smile the sun burst from the clouds as he stepped aboard the yacht for a warm bath and a change of clothes.

West & Company, after the insolvency suspension, was retired as member of the stock clearing corporation.

The Curb exchange announced suspension of the company shortly after action by the stock exchange.

The suspension of West & Co. is the third by the stock exchange this year. Insolvency of Lorenzen E. Anderson & Co., with main offices at St. Louis, was followed by that of Pynchon & Co., on April 24.

During the bear market of 1930 five firms were expelled from the exchange for insolvency, bringing the present total to eight for the period.

Last year's suspensions were Woody & Co., J. W. Sisto & Co., Prince & Whiteley, C. Clothier Jones & Co., and Bauer, Pogue, Pond and Vivian.

BURGLARS GET $500 LOOT IN COLLAN HOME

Burglars who took advantage of the fact that members of the family were away from home, robbed the home of F. B. Collan, on Orangefoothorpe avenue, one mile west of the Anaheim road Saturday afternoon, stealing articles worth $500, according to a report made by Deputy Sheriff L. H. Nicholson, who made an investigation.

The family was away from home at the time, on a picnic and the burglary was not discovered until they returned Saturday evening.

Three men's coats, a gray overcoat, diamond bracelet and a diamond ring, pearl beads, Elk's tooth, gold cross and numerous other articles of jewelry were taken by the thief.

Entrance into the home was made after a screen on a rear window had been broken.

To Provide Work For Girls Here

Over 150 girls in Santa Ana that are unemployed will be given a chance to work for several weeks through an arrangement made with the city employment office by W. L. Perkins, it was learned today. About 20 men also will be used, it is reported.

Perkins has opened a store at 211 West Fifth street and will employ the girls and men to sell the candy he handles. All of the people used in the sales force will be obtained from the city employment bureau.

The program, which is being arranged by Charles Williston, includes several musical numbers by a quartet which has been obtained for the occasion by Orio Householder. Other music will be furnished by two singers and two

This proposal, embodied in a constitutional amendment by Senator Bradford S. Crittenden, Stockton, already has been approved by the senate constitutional amendments committee.

Oil conservation bills by Senator Will R. Sharkey, Martinez, will come before the legislature Tuesday. This plan seeks to allocate production to the several sources of supply so as to avoid waste, and restricting the drilling for oil on town lots.

Other major issues to be passed upon by the legislature during the next three weeks are:

Extension of the Carquinez bridge franchise from 25 to 59 years.

Abolition of capital punishment, substituting life imprisonment without parole.

Transfer of San Francisco harbor control from the state to the city of San Francisco.

Sewell anti-trespass bill and Crohn bill forbidding commercial fishermen from catching striped bass except with hook and line.

New building and loan act.

Debt limitation and majority pro-test bill on special assessments.

Approximately $25,000,000 in so-called "pork barrel" appropriation bills, of which the majority are doomed to defeat.

State employees' retirement, teachers' retirement and teachers' tenure.

In addition to the striped bass bill, which was to come before the assembly today, the perennial row over the percentage of the California sardine catch permitted to be used for fertilizer purposes will be before the senate for action.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW RUM CASE

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(UP)

The supreme court today de-cided to review the question of whether the government may retain liquor seized in violation of the search and seizure laws.

The court made this decision in a suit brought by John Strong, Easton, Mass., to recover a quantity of liquor discovered in a "root cellar" in his barn by pro-hhibition agents who had no warrant.

Strong refused them permission to enter his premises. He was never prosecuted for any liquor offense, but the government re-fused to return the liquor.

Salvage was forced to open the safe and the bandits took $200 in cash and checks, leaving about $100 in checks.

Authorities in La Habra are of the opinion that the men were familiar with the habits of the clerks and that the robbery had been planned sometime before. It is thought both men were professionals, as they went about their work calmly.

One of the men who appeared to be about 30, wore a brown suit of clothes, and the other, who looked to be about 25 wore light corduroys and a coat.

It is said a Whittier store was held up by a pair answering a similar description, at about 6:30 o'clock this morning. The La Habra store is located in the central part of the business section of the city.

Calvin Coolidge Says . . .

By CALVIN COOLIDGE, former President of the United States

NORTHAMPTON, April 27.—

Contemporary opinion is usually too critical and often misdirected. In the perspective of history, many of our present seeming imperfections will disappear and the good qualities of our society and government will be more apparent. Before becoming entirely discouraged and hastily deciding everything has so deteriorated that confidence is no longer warranted, it would be well to read some former opinions. Discouraging conclusions are not new. They have continually been expressed even by the able and the thoughtful from the foundation of our republic. As judicially minded a man as Chancellor Kent wrote in 1845, "I think we have at Washington the meanest, malignant, party hacks and tools that ever were doomed to curse a republic." Yet the country not only survived but the government of that day is now conceded to have included some of our most brilliant statesmen.

Sometimes the whole body of congress falls into disfavor because of the actions of a few members. The blame lies with the voters who elect undesirable persons. When elected, other members have to work with them.

This republic has a good government. The future undoubtedly will judge this period as a time when the country met its difficulties remarkably well. Copyright, 1931, McClure News' Syn.

ANNOUNCE LIST OF WOMEN FOR MASONIC DRIVE

Complete organization of the women's division in the campaign for $50,000 to be launched for furnishings of Santa Ana's new Masonic temple was announced today by Mrs. Fannie E. Reeves, chairman of this department of the campaign.

The immediate rallying of the women to the campaign has been most gratifying and I feel that we have an organization of conscientious workers who will secure good results," Mrs. Reeves stated. "A large part of our women's team organization is made up of veteran workers of the building fund campaign of 18 months ago, but we realize that the conditions of the two campaigns are widely different. For that reason every worker will be thoroughly informed about the building, the furnishings needs and the campaign plans before solicitation is started.

"Captains of the team organization tell me that all of the women they talk with are determined, as the men are, that our new temple may be furnished in keeping with its exterior beauty and dignity. So I know that the women of Masonically affiliated organizations will do their part toward making the furnishings campaign a success."

The entire women's organization will meet for instruction in their duties at luncheon next Wednesday noon at the Santa Ana cafe, when final plans for their part in the campaign will be made.

Members of the women's teams are:

AMENDED HEAD-RUTAN BILL AT THIRD READING

The Orange county water conservation and development district bill, amended to comply with conditions demanded by communities and voters of the district, is now up before the assembly for third reading. It was learned today.

The bill, which provided for organization of the Santa Ana river basin as a district with power to import water, to take necessary steps to conserve water and to reclaim sewage water, was prepared by Attorneys A. W. Rutan and H. C. Head, well known Orange county water attorneys and representatives of leading water companies in the county.

Amendments incorporated in the measure to comply with wishes of the people require a two-thirds vote for passage of bond issues (the measure originally provided for a majority vote); elimination of municipalities from the district (formerly Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, which are members of the Metropolitan Water district were included); election of the board of trustees by popular vote of the people, with the board of supervisors given power to fill vacancies (the board of supervisors was originally named in the measure arbitrarily as trustees of the district).

Sometimes the whole body of congress falls into disfavor because of the actions of a few members. The blame lies with the voters who elect undesirable persons. When elected, other members have to work with them.

FREDERICK J. LIBBY PLEADS OR SENTIMENT AGAINST WAR IN ADDRESS HERE SATURDAY

Pleading for a wave of public sentiment against war and giving a comprehensive picture of world conditions as they exist at the present time, Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, lectured before a large audience in the First Congregational church Saturday night.

Dr. Libby talked on the topic "Current Events in World History" and was in Santa Ana to help organize branch of the national council. He spoke earlier in the evening at a banquet at the Santa Ana cafe, where the details of the "national peace machine" were given out. The National Council for the Prevention of War has six offices and hopes to open two more this year, the existing branches being in San Francisco, Portland, Ore., Louisville, Des Moines and Springfield, Mass. The council has a total staff of 50 persons and 15 lecturers having addressed 2500 audiences last year and half a million people.

J. F. Burke, chairman of the local group, presided over the meeting and introduced the speaker. Dr. Libby opened his remarks with the observation that there were two salient forces striving for supremacy in the world, one moving toward another world war and the second to stave it off until world peace is established.

"The trend of the universe is toward unity and it is now possible to have conversation over any 40,000,000 telephones in the world," the pacifist stated.

Dr. Libby pointed out that the United States has spent approximately $17,000,000,000 in outside countries, based on the stability and peace of the world. In 1930, Americans handled $10,000,000,000 of foreign trade, realizing that the world is becoming the biggest market.

"It is because of these international relations that the United States must join the World Court and take a part in world arbitration," Libby declared. According to reliable word from leaders in congress, the United States will join the other 54 members by next January, perhaps sooner if a special session of congress is held," Libby said.

"We should also join the League of Nations to settle the disputes which cannot be handled in the World Court," he said. "Nations used to think that security was possible through armor but it is now conclusively proved that any country is powerless to defend itself from the air, even though it may have the power to wipe out some other country. That is why it is so foolish to rely on military defense when membership in these worldwide organizations would do as much to bring security," the speaker said.

Dr. Libby dwelt at length upon the World Disarmament conference to be held at Geneva, Switzerland, in February, 1932, terming it the most important conference the world has ever known. At the meeting, 60 nations will try to limit and reduce all forms of arms with the largest hope for success lying in the policies of the United States and Great Britain. According to Libby, England will fight for a 25 per cent reduction in all war expenses.

"It is up to the American public to show that reduction in war expenses would greatly reduce taxation and would increase general prosperity. It is only through public opinion against war and advantageous peace treaties that we can hope for ultimate security," he said.

A general discussion on world conditions was held after the lecture, with the visiting speaker answering questions. On being asked why big business interests didn't act on the Russian situation as they did with Nicaragua, Dr. Libby said that it was too short a period for a great body of public opinion to be aroused in behalf of recognition of Russia. However, a great educational movement is now in progress in this country, giving the true facts on Russia. Since Russia is the greatest potential market for American goods, it is to the advantage of both countries to come to terms.

Refuting the current argument that by recognizing Russia the United States would be condemned by the world, Dr. Libby pointed out that the policies of Russia would not be recognized but only the government itself. Asked if the Russians could be depended on to tell the truth, the speaker stated it was hard to tell, but that it was to the best interests of his country to do so and receive the benefits of trade and credit from this country.

Senator Borah has pointed out that an important preliminary to a successful disarmament conference next year is recognition of Russia by the United States so that our delegation can at least speak to the Russian delegation. All other important nations recognized Russia long ago.

"The world cannot disarm unless Russia does. Russia has 600,000 in her conscript army. Her neighbors, Poland and Rumania, have continually used Russia as a pretext for not disarming. Russia's startling proposal of total disarmament two or three years ago was a strategic move to meet this complaint, but Russia would have been surprised if her offer had been taken up.

"In our present strained relations with Russia there is danger from the communists. Atrocious tales are being circulated to inflame our minds against Russia. The churches have been aroused against the atheism of the communist leaders and not with a view to converting them. Soviet "dumping" has been grossly exaggerated. Hamilton Fish is going about the country now inflaming hatred for Russia. This kind of thing is dangerous.

"The Kellogg pact is recognized as the cornerstone of our foreign policy. Through this pact we have urged upon the nations the principle of settling every dispute by peaceful means. We have a dispute with Russia which could be settled at a table—a question of a few hundred million dollars in money and a question of propaganda.

"Our policy of isolation for Russia has not weakened Russian communism but only enabled it to dig in.

"From the material standpoint no one will deny that Russia is more important as a market than as a competitor. France and Great Britain at one time expected to boycott German goods because they feared German competition. It was not long before they learned their mistake and reversed their policy.

"Business accepts the world as its unit now. The United States is no longer big enough as a market. Enterprising business firms of all nations sell their products to the world. From now on, war is hell for business."

In a world village like this we must have law and order. Border rioting must cease and we must settle down to dealing with our international disputes as with local disputes in the courts.

"We must remove the machine guns from our front porches on the streets of this world village if we are to be secure in any realistic sense. We live now at one another's mercy. London could wipe out Paris tonight or Paris London, just as New York city could wipe out Philadelphia if they fought each other. But why should they commit suicide?"

Dr. Libby admitted that the R. O. T. C. military classes in many high schools and colleges were discouraging to peace movements, but added that only a very small fraction of schools tolerated military training and some were substituting courses in international relations and giving students their preference.

Following the meeting, virtually everyone in the audience signed slips and signified their willingness to assist in the movement to further world-wide peace. A meeting will be called in a short time to discuss plans and organization of a city or county group. Anyone wishing further information on the subject is advised to communicate with either J. F. Burke, chairman, or L. L. Beaman, secretary.

DOG QUARANTINE POSTPONED HERE

Information received this noon from the state board of health revealed the fact that the date for the enforcement of the proposed rabies quarantine on dogs that was to have taken effect today has been postponed to a later date.

This delay in instituting the quarantine has been occasioned by the discovery of technicalities which must be complied with before the order can become legally effective. It was reported today by Dr. H. K. Sutherland, county health officer.

GENERATOR IS GIVEN PRIZES AT SAN DIEGO

Scoring first honors for the third successive time, the Santa Ana high school weekly newspaper, The Generator, dominated the prize awards at the spring convention of the Southern California High School Press association held at San Diego Saturday, by taking first place for first page makeup and sport makeup in the class B division.

The first high honor of the school year for the high school paper came in October at Redondo, when it received first place in first page makeup and tied for second in sport page makeup, at the University of Southern California in March. The Generator won the sweepstakes prize for the best all-around paper in Southern California.

Although winning first place in front page makeup at San Diego, the local paper achieved another unofficial honor by scoring the highest rating of any paper entered in any division of the front page competition. The Generator also had a fairly high rating in the other phases of judging, which included editorials, features, humor sections and news stories.

Miss Lillian Hurwitz is editor-in-chief of the paper while Bill Gibbs, sport editor, is responsible for the sporting award. Those who attended the San Diego conclave besides Hurwitz and Gibbs were Miss Marion Toote, news editor; Miss Katherine Robbins, assistant news editor; Miss Doris Tittle, feature editor; Miss Betty Walker, girls' sports editor; Beatrice Rankin, exchange editor; Jean Bishop and Evelyn Wiebe, proof readers; Gene Thompson, business manager; Earl Motley, advertising manager; Charles Downie, assistant advertising manager; Gerald Adair, ad solicitor; Melvin Morrison, circulation manager; Edgar M. Flowers, journalism adviser; Miss Flora Hart and Miss Mary Reed, reporters and Edgar M. Flowers, journalism adviser. Miss Hurwitz was chairman of the conference for news editors held during the convention.

Santa Ana was also given the vice presidency of the association for the next half-year, Miss Hurwitz, as editor, holding the honor. Santa Ana also provided the vice president in 1929, the same time that The Generator won first honors for its class at the annual University of Southern California Newspaper day. The next convention will be held at George Washington Junior high school of Pasadena. It was decided by the 300 delegates.

The third honor for the high school paper was the fourth that Flowers has received during the year, since the junior college paper, El Don, was one of two California Jaycees weeklies to receive All-American ranking from the National Press association in

REUNION OF COVERED WAGON TRIO PREVENTED BY DEATH

Death has prevented the reunion of three of the oldest pioneers of the state who came out to California from Dallas, Texas, in one of the original covered wagon trains led by Mose Short, it was learned yesterday.

William L. Wilhite, 86-year-old pioneer who passed away on February 6, of this year, was one of the party that came to this state in the train that left Dallas in 1855. Mrs. Ellen Taggart, a daughter of John W. Casey, the first man to take up government land in Los Angeles county, lives in Del Norte county, and was one of the members of the train. Mrs. Frances De Shields, of Norwalk, is also a daughter of John Casey, is the other surviving member of the train.

Recently Mrs. De Shields and Mrs. Taggart came to Santa Anna with Martin C. Arthur, of Hollister, Mrs. Taggart's son-in-law, to visit Wilhite, not knowing that he had passed away. Had they come but a short time before, a reunion of three of the oldest pioneers of Southern California could have been held.

Half of the train that left Dallas in 1855 was wiped out by Indians near Yuma, Arizona, it was learned from the visitors to this city.

TWO SUICIDES TAKE PLACE IN COUNTY SUNDAY ON SATURDAY

Ira N. Thompson, for 16 years the insurance agent of the Bankers Life Company in Orange and Imperial counties, passed away early Saturday morning at the home of his daughter, Ella May Thompson, 2645 Marsh street, Los Angeles, it was learned today.

Thompson sustained a fractured leg a month ago, but was unable to rally from an operation necessitated by complications that set in.

He was 67 years old at the time of his demise.

Besides his daughter, he is survived by two sons, Ira Neil Thompson, of New York City, and Convis Krepp Thompson, of San Luis Potosi, Mexico.

Thompson had many friends in Orange county that today are grieving his death.

He had been dead for some time when the body was discovered. He left a note in the house, stating that he expected to kill himself and stated that ill health and despondency were the causes of his death.

The body of Frank Bartolowitch, 62, a carpenter, who resided at Belvedere Gardens, was found early yesterday morning in the front seat of his automobile on Hanson street, between Ninth street and Orangethorpe avenue, in Buena Park. He had shot himself through the right temple with a .38 caliber pistol, the ball penetrating the head, officers reported.

In addition to Los Angeles, relatives received a letter from him, stating that ill health and a despondent mood had prompted the act, according to information obtained by L. H. Nicholson, deputy sheriff, who had charge of the investigation for the sheriff's office.

The body was found by Mrs. E. M. Ensign and her son, James, who were delivering newspapers at the time. Blood coming from the floor of the car attracted their attention to the machine, parked at the side of the street.

The body was taken to the Stones Funeral parlors at Buena Park, where Coroner Charles D. Brown announced that he would hold an inquest at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. The body of Smith was removed to the McAulay and Sutter Funeral parlors at Fullerton. No inquest will be held.

DR. JUDSON COLE PASSES ON SUNDAY

Dr. Judson H. Cole, 65, a native of New York but a resident of California for 18 years and who was a practicing physician in Anaheim for many years until two years ago, passed away at the home of relatives in Pasadena early yesterday morning, it was learned today.

Soon after death of his wife three and one-half years ago, Dr. Cole sold out his interests in Anaheim and traveled in search of health.

Funeral services will be held from the Hilgenfeld Funeral home in Anaheim Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., with the Rev. S. F. Hilgenfeld officiating. Interment will be made in the mausoleum in Fairhaven cemetery.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Paul Everett, of Hartford, Conn., and Mrs. Nellie Brown of New York; and three nephews, Russell Everett, of Connecticut, Duane Brown of New York, and O. P. Lookinland, of San Pedro.

PIONEER ANSWERS CALL ON SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna McMillan, who passed away Saturday, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Smith and Tuthill Funeral parlors.

Coming here from the north with her parents in 1877, she has seen the country change from willow-covered wastes into the present fruitful orange groves. She first moved to Newport Beach in the early '90s, when there were only a few straggling houses on the peninsula. Most of the years since have been passed there, where a host of friends will mourn her loss.

She is survived by her husband, John McMillan; three sons, Hugo, Neil and John McMillan Jr.; two daughters, Sarah Irwin and Agnes Kelley; eight grandchildren; also three brothers, William Mills, El Modena, F. B. Mills, Newport Beach, and J. H. Mills, Brawley; and one sister, Mary A. Parks, Gardeon Grove.

DELEGATION TO GUARD COUNTY WATER RIGHTS

Following a conference between members of the board of supervisors, the county representatives to the legislature and men interested in various phases of water development and conservation, which was held in the supervisors' room at the court house Saturday afternoon, a delegation consisting of Engineer Paul Bailey, Attorney A. W. Rutan and Supervisor Willard Smith was sent to Sacramento yesterday to look after Orange county interests in connection with a bill calling for an appropriation of $400,000 for expenditure in conservation on the Santa Ana river in San Bernardino county.

This measure was the sole subject of the conference, according to Supervisor John C. Mitchell, who acted as chairman of the meeting and at whose call the group gathered.

The bill, which is now before the legislature, provides that the state appropriate $400,000 for construction of a series of check dams along the Santa Ana river in San Bernardino county, according to Supervisor Mitchell. The effect of this proposed work on the amount of water that would reach Orange county and a balancing of benefits and damages that might be expected were the principal subjects of discussion, it is said.

The consensus developed at the conference was that Orange county is in harmony with conservation, and if the measure will be of benefit to Orange county, Supervisor Mitchell said, "With this we are in harmony. There also would be some benefit from return irrigation from the water retarded and held there. But we object to all the money being deposited in San Bernardino county and authority for spending it all being placed with San Bernardino county. We feel sure the matter can be satisfactorily worked out, as we have planned and worked amicably with Riverside and San Bernardino counties for so long in the past."

Those present at the meeting Saturday afternoon included John Mitchell, Charles Chapman, William Schumacher and Willard Smith, of the board of supervisors; Senator Nels T. Edwards; Assemblyman Ted Craig; former county auditor W. C. Jerome; Paul Bailey, former engineer for the Orange county flood control district; Phil A. Stanton, prominent Republican leader and member of the state highway commission; W. W. Hoy, engineer for the Tri-Counties Water Conservation association; Harry Hale, official of the Anaheim Union Water company; A. N. Saxon and W. A. Ralph, of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company; Attorney A. W. Rutan; D. J. Dodge, of Costa Mesa; and William Hart, of Orange.

RIVALING U. S.

BERLIN—The divorce rate in Germany is steadily mounting due, according to experts, to the breaking up of unions made during the war period. Figures show that during 1929 there were 39,424 divorces granted. This represents an increase of 2500 over those of 1928.

Hospitality typical of early California days will prevail in Anaheim May 11, when the Orange County Valencia Orange Show and Fair will entertain newspaper men, leaders in the citrus industry, city and county officials and other friends of the exposition, at a Spanish barbecue. Supper is to be served in a tent on the show grounds and more than 400 guests are expected to attend. Paul Tedrick is in charge of arrangements.

The barbecue will perpetuate a custom established by the California Valencia Orange show in each year entertaining a large number of persons who contributed to the success of that event at an "Orange show dinner."

TESTIMONY OF PAUL SUBJECT IN E L MODENA

Last Rites For H. H. Gillogly To Be Held Tuesday

ORANGE, April 27.—Funeral services are to be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Gillogly funeral home for Hervy H. Gillogly, former resident of Villa Park, who passed away Friday evening at a San Diego hospital, where he was taken Thursday. The deceased was the son of Mrs. Rebecca Gillogly, of Orange. The Rev. W. B. Cole of the First Methodist church will conduct the services and interment is to be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

"Paul was an artist in testimony; I think it would be a fine thing to study this testimony, which was given in almost a boastful way. We have something to boast of, also. Now, I want us to notice in the first place, it begins with Paul. In the grades, I forgot which one, we were taught to write letters, and we were told never to start a letter with I. Beginning with something else, but never with I. Paul goes on and says he is a servant of Jesus Christ, called an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God."

"When we stand before the people, I wonder if we are willing to call ourselves by our own names? You remember Paul's name had been changed. He had been called Saul, but after he had been converted, his name was called Paul. Paul qualifies that name. This is the Paul that is the servant of Jesus Christ."

"He could have used any one of six different words in the Greek but he used the strongest word he could possibly have used. He is the bond servant. He is a bond slave of his Master. He is called to be an apostle and you notice that 'to be' is in italics, which it was added by the translators; so leaving out those two words, we have, Paul called an apostle—and he wasn't ashamed of it. He was proud to be an apostle. He was chosen of God for a special work, not to the Jews, but to the Gentiles. He is not apologizing or making excuses. He was separated unto the gospel of God."

"How Beautiful on the Mountains" was a tenor solo by one of the group of the Men's Glee Club. The male quartet sang "Jolly Boys" and "Land of the West," followed by the chorus in "Feasting I watch" and "In the Glorious Gospel." Ben Bailey gave a violin solo. The quartet gave "Hear Dem Bells" and "Heaven" and "The Land of Moon" was given by the chorus. Myron Cole was the director of the club and gave a short talk on the objects of the college.

John King, the yell leader from the college, gave some of the college yell. The service closed with a song by the men's chorus and the benediction by the Rev. Walter Taylor of the Congregational church at Villa Park.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 27.—Fred Brooks Jr., son of Fred Brooks of the high school faculty, broke a toe on his left foot while playing ball on the sand on the beach Saturday. Fred was one of the high school star athletes at the high school this year in football and basketball and took the leading part in the senior play recently, "The Poor Nut." He went through a school year of football and basketball without a scratch to stump his toe and break it in the beach sand.

"Thank you, sir," said Nance politely and with quiet dignity. "You are most kind to take this trouble for a stranger, and I shall never forget it." And she held out her hand.

McNamara looked in puzzlement at Lanny. "What's happened to her?" he demanded.

"I'll explain to you sometime. You're a brilliant chief of police and you've figured everything out to a grain's eyelash for Penelope, but what's going to happen to me?"

"The concoction of the plan I've just outlined has given me brain fever. Lanny. It's cost me a night's sleep. I don't know what's going to happen to you and I don't much care. You're a smart woman, and if you can't figure a way out of your end of the mess don't call on me for help."

"Well, let's give Miss Lanning's house a prow, anyhow."

Flynn was one of those hearty fellows who will try anything twice, so they went immediately to Lanny's house. The lights in front were out when they arrived, so Flynn pussyfooted around to the rear of the cottage to see if any lights were there. Finding none, he listened for possible voices. Hearing none, he cautiously lifted the lid off Lanny's garbage can and bent his flashlight on it. He was rewarded for his courage by finding a stained bandage with clamped adhesive tape clinging to it. This telltale evidence he carried around to Angelotti; they entered their car, drove a block and inspected the clue in the light of the dash lamp. Then they silently shook hands.

"Nothing is ever lost if you know where it is," Flynn rejoiced. "I'm going to get my missus a winter coat with my half of the reward. We'll bone the district attorney for a search warrant tomorrow, and tomorrow night when the old lady gets home, we'll make the pinch."

"She'll pinch her as an accessory!"

"Amadeo, my boy. There was a lip-stick on the bureau and that's something old lady McNamara don't use. And I found a roll of adhesive, the heel of a roll of bandage and a soiled sheet with some bloodstains on it in the dirty clothes basket in the bathroom."

Angelotti was convinced. "Where did she go?"

"She might have doubled back to that old nurse's house again, but I doubt that because she knows that's right."

"Amadeo, my boy, unless you're looking hard for something, it's a mistake to see too much or know too much. This Lanning woman is a friend of the chief's. As far as the public ever need know we picked the girl up on the street."

CONCERT GIVEN BY GLEE CLUB SUNDAY NIGHT

ORANGE, April 27.—A sacred concert by the Men's Glee club of California Christian college was given Sunday evening at the First Christian church. "Storm Tossed" was the subject of the Sunday morning sermon given by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck. Mrs. Walter Kogler sang "The Holy City" and the choir gave an anthem.

The Rev. Mr. Minck said, in part: "Be of good cheer; it is not afraid," were the words of Jesus to His disciples at the end of the battle with the elements on the storm-tossed sea. The voice of Jesus has come to us in the very center of the stormy life. It has come to you and me, a message of joy and cheer as to His disciples that day. We need not taste of every temptation, we only need to know where they are and leave them alone and keep in the channel away from temptation. The disciples were obeying the command of Jesus. They went into the face of the wind in obedience to that command.

"Storms and sorrows come into all our lives. There is value in those storms and sorrows, maybe to take your mind off of temptation, to bring you back to a Christian life. His disciples thought they were all alone, but Jesus was praying for them. Jesus is praying today for you. We should follow in prayer for those in need, when tossed by the storms of life. It was only through Jesus Christ that those disciples rose above the storm. Jesus came to them, Jesus allows us to do all we can. At the end of our strength Jesus is there with his own message to the heart of man, a message of good cheer and courage."

A special meeting in observance of the 357th birthday of William Shakespeare was held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Adams on East Collins avenue. Twelve members belong to this Shakespeare club and all were at the meeting except Mrs. D. Gardner, who was unable to be present. Mrs. Ellen Holditch gave a review of "Macbeth." Miss Minnie Terrell gave a review of "Titus Adronicus." Mrs. G. E. Bushman reviewed "The Merchant of Venice." Mrs. V. C. Bathgate read an editorial on "Shakespeare's Views on Temperance." Mrs. E. T. Lee read selections from "The Life of Shakespeare." The other members present gave quotations from Shakespeare's plays. The hostess served sandwiches, fruit salad, potato chips, tea, birthday cake and candy.

Recent luncheon guests of Mrs. William A. Knuth Jr., were Mrs. Romers, Mrs. T. H. Elijah, Mrs. W. O. Hart and Mrs. J. F. Craemer, of Orange; Mrs. R. G. Spurgeon, of Santa Ana.

A special meeting in observance of the 14th birthday of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adams in observance of the 14th birthday of their son, Clarence Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stanley and daughter were present and Mrs. Stanley's birthday was also celebrated.

After a supper served by Mrs. Adams, a weiner bake was held in Santiago creek and games were played. Twenty-eight were present.

ANAHEIM GAME OFF Trojans Start North Friday

BIG STANFORD MEET NEXT ON TROY SCHEDULE

By ALFRED F. WESSON

LOS ANGELES, April 27.—Primed for what is expected to be the greatest college dual track meet of the present season, 36 University of Southern California track and field athletes will entrain here at 8 p.m. Friday for Palo Alto where Saturday, May 2, they will renew their old cinderpath rivalry with Stanford university.

Many significant features enter into the meet to establish it in advance as one of the greatest of the year. Strong traditional rivals in their dual meets, the teams have also been outstanding contenders for national honors for a number of years. The history of their competition in the I. C. A. A. A. championships shows each to have won three titles during the past six-year period. Southern California having earned the crown in 1925 and '26, Stanford having taken it in '27, '28 and '29, and Southern California having won it back in 1930.

While Southern California's strength lies in good performers, well distributed throughout the track events, the Cards' hopes against S. C. rest mainly in the field where their shot putters, discus throwers and javelin tossers are overwhelming favorites over the Trojans.

Hall Off Form

Bob Hall, S. C.'s leading weight man, started the season under the handicap of a badly sprained right wrist, sustained while playing football, and as yet he has been unable to approach his best marks of 157.7 in the discus and 48.10 in the shot made last year. If Hall can return to his old form against Stanford, he may prove a life-saver in events where the Cards on present dope would not surprise with clean sweeps.

After having swept the Javelin throw last year, the Trojans face the possibility of seeing Stanford reverse the decision this season. With Jesse Mortensen, last year's winner, among the graduates; Jim Snyder, second place man, failing to return to the university; and Blanchard Beatty, third man, out with an injured back, Trojan hopes rest solely on Sophomore Kenneth McKenzie, whose best efforts so far have been around 185 feet.

The tremendous task of making up points lost in the three throwing events will be faced by the Southern California track performers headed by Frank Wykoff, sprinter; Vic Williams, quarter-miler and relay team anchor man; Cliff Halstead, miler and 880 man, and Captain Ernie Payne and Bill Carls, low hurdlers.

Wykoff Sprint Favorite

Although he lost to Hec Dyer in the Southern California-Stanford meet 100-yard dash after a bad start last season, Wykoff is favored to get revenge this year in this race and also to take the furlong despite the fact that Dyer, Lombardi and Habiles will present an unusually formidable rival trio.

The remarkable running of Ben Eastman has established him as the 440 favorite but if Vic Williams of S. C. comes through with the strong finish-type race of that he ran last year in winning the national A. A. U. quarter-mile championship the Trojan star will be a hard man to beat.

Only a broken leg will keep Cliff Halstead of Southern California from being an overwhelming favorite in the mile, as his recent 4:19.4 victory over Orval Martin, former Big Ten champion, is one of the fastest marks of the season at this date.

Halstead also will run the half in the Stanford meet and here he will find plenty of hot competition from his team mate, Bill McGeagh, and the sensational Eastman.

Although Stanford's two-mile entry, Paul Aebersold, ruled the favorite in this race until recently, Chesley Unruh and Earl Callahan are now conceded good chances here as the result of their showings in the Los Angeles A. C. meet when they ran almost a dead heat in 9:42.

Trojan Hurdlers Best

Southern California is given the edge in the low hurdles with Payne and Carls, but "Podge" Smith and Al Nisbet of Stanford even up the dope with their high hurdles records. In the latter race, however, the Trojans have a dark horse in Bill Stokes who has never yet been able to get a real good race out of his system but who may be due to crash through with a startling performance in this meet.

The pole vault will have two 12-footers in Bill Gruber of Southern California and DeGroot

RAIN CANCELS ORANGE COUNTY SPORTS EVENTS

The "million dollar" rain played havoc with Orange county's weekend sports program.

Night baseball games scheduled for last Friday were first to suffer.

Preliminaries for the annual Coast Preparatory league track and field, to have been held at Fullerton Saturday, were called off. They will be held Wednesday, with the finals on Saturday. This meet will attract the best athletes from nine high schools—Santa Ana, Long Beach, San Diego, Pasadena, Glendale, Woodrow Wilson, Compton and Fullerton. There was work to do!

Now Harper is back again, and early next fall he will be waiting for the boys to come in. And there is more work to do now than ever. Notre Dame, as usual, is facing the toughest schedule in its history. There were games with South Dakota, Texas, Penn State and Army. There was work to do!

Matches in the President's cup golf tournament at the Santa Ana Country club were delayed.

All high school, junior college and Sunday semi-pro baseball games were called off.

With rain still falling, officials today cancelled Tuesday's scheduled "gigantic" between Santa Ana and Anaheim night ball club.

EXTEND QUALIFYING AT WILLOWICK CLUB

Qualifying rounds for the Willowick Golf club's annual spring handicapped tournament will be continued this week, officials announced today. The rain storm prevented many eager contestants from playing their rounds and these will have all this week to hand in their cards.

Frank Angell's 77 is low qualifying score so far. J. H. Evans and Dick Ewert have 78s and Glenn Waterbury 84.

GREGG WINS SHOOT AT S. A. SKEET CLUB

Cal Gregg again won the Sunday shoot at the Santa Ana Skeet club, breaking 24 of 25 targets. Other scores: R. O. Skima, 23; Orville Farish, 21; Herb Carter, H. A. Krause and Lloyd Smith, 20; Leland Smith, 19; Louis Kraemer, 18; Sam Collins, 17; Malcolm Gregg, 16; Sam Kraemer, Dorsey Clayton, Charles Ryan and Dominic Bassi, 15; Dick Holly, 13.

Davis Cup Honors

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 27.—Argentina's Davis Cup tennis team today held South American zone honors and was starting preparations for completion with the North American winner.

Argentina qualified for the American zone finals, to be played at Washington, D. C., next month, by defeating Chile three matches to none in the South American final.

SACRAMENTO BALL PLAYER BADLY HURT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—(UPI)—The condition of Leonard Backer, star infielder of the Sacramento baseball club, was regarded as alarming today.

At St. Mary's hospital, where Backer was carried yesterday after he was struck on the head by a pitched ball, physicians reported today that he spent half of the night unconscious and does not seem to rally as rapidly as would be expected were his injuries superficial.

X-ray examinations, calculated to determine if Backer's skull was fractured, have not been definitely interpreted, it was disclosed.

Backer was struck after one fast ball had already grazed his shoulder. He fell to the ground bleeding from both ears, and the hemorrhage persisted several hours.

FARNSWORTH WINS MEDAL PLAY GOLF

CARDING AN 80-10-70, F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth won 18 holes of medal play at the Santa Ana Country club Saturday. L. W. Bemis, 81-8-73, and Hugh Shields, 85-12-73, tied for second. E. R. Manker had 85-11-74, and J. K. McDonald 82-8-74.

CLASS B RESULTS: G. A. Oliver, 84-18-66, and H. B. Van Dien, 82-18-66; F. W. Chapman and Millburn Harvey, 90-22-68; E. Robins, 90-20-70, and William Kistinger, 88-18-70.

With Harper, Stagg evolved springy off-tackle dashes and end runs, opening up the game. Harper took the same idea with him to Notre Dame, and encouraged the famous Dorsais-to-Rockne forward pass that in 1918 snapped across the gridiron like a scourge.

In 1917 Harper turned over his job to Rockne, who in three years as assistant coach had displayed genius that Harper recognized. Jess settled down to ranch life near Sitka, Kans., about 100 miles from the spot where Rockne was to crash to his death 14 years later.

And we would say she was quite optimistic, even as the wife of the great man, for the $80,000-a-year bundle of brawn of the New York Yankees came home last night from Boston, where he was injured last week, looking like a St. Bernard with a tin can tied to his tail.

He was positively drooping as he was trundled to his automobile in a wheel chair. He carried a cane in one hand and cap in the other,

WET WEATHER CANCELS NIGHT BASEBALL TILT

The Santa Ana-Anaheim night baseball classic, scheduled for the Santa Ana bowl tomorrow night, was called off today by mutual agreement of the rival clubs.

No date was set for the playoff, but it may be held some night next week if satisfactory to Anaheim.

The game was postponed after an investigation of the bowl showed the grounds too wet for the game whether or not the sun shines between now and Tuesday night.

Anaheim officials said it also would be impossible to play on their grounds, so the possibility of changing places was not considered seriously.

At noon today no reports had been received from other cities in the National Night league, so Tuesday's games, aside from the Santa Ana-Anaheim contest, probably will be run off according to schedule.

Westminster and Olive are scheduled to play their game at Westminster tonight.

Francis Penhall, manager of the Westminster team, announced that his grounds were in pretty fair shape, so it is probable one will be held.

The Westminster park is just a block off the highway, at the corner of North Plaza and Chestnut streets.

Westminster is scheduled to play at Anaheim Wednesday and Huntington Beach at Westminster Friday.

MEXICO LINEUP FOR CUP PLAY UNCERTAIN

MEXICO CITY, April 27.—(UPI)—Mexico's lineup for the Davis Cup matches with the United States remained uncertain today with Carlos Tapia suffering a slight cold and Alfonso Unda convalescing from a recent illness.

Unda said he could hardly hope to regain his strength in time to play in the matches, starting May 1, even if his condition should improve immediately.

The United States players held a three hour practice session yesterday at Chapultepec club. Frank Shields was in excellent form and all of the players showed marked improvement over their earlier play, although Sidney Wood is experiencing difficulty in adjusting his stroke to the rarified atmosphere.

Although "Chick" Hafey has not yet reported to the Cardinals, they have clung to the top rung of the National league ladder through the superb pitching of Grimes, Hallahan, Haines and Rhem. Even in losing a 1 to 0 duel to Heine of Pittsburgh yesterday, Hallahan pitched well enough to win 9 out of 10 games.

CUBS HITTING HARD

Chicago's Cubs have been hitting heavily and soon as the Cardinals' most dangerous rivals in the senior circuit.

Charley Root and the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling affair, Mr. Johnston, says these four bouts will take place in rapid succession.

With the exception of the Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Robins, the 16 big league outfits have hit their true stride. Boston's unexpected display of strength is mainly responsible for Brooklyn's lowly position, the Robins having taken it on the chin in six of their seven games with the Beaneaters.

Even in losing a 1 to 0 duel to Heine of Pittsburgh yesterday, Hallahan pitched well enough to win 9 out of 10 games.

THE SHARKEY PROGRAM

JAMES J. JOHNSTON, who is now promoting at Elkhorn Field, Brooklyn, says he has Jack Sharkey lined up for four bouts.

The four men in the order named are Carnera, Mickey Walker, Tommy Loughran and the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling affair. Mr. Johnston says these four bouts will take place in rapid succession.

Cleveland is setting the pace in the American league due to the fact that the Indians have been feeding on the weaker clubs in the Western half of the circuit while the Athletics, Senators and Yankees have been cutting each others throats in the east.

Cleveland's hurlers are pitching straight ball and the club's batting average of .380 is far higher than that of any other team in the league.

What the Indians will do when they run up against Philadelphia, Washington and New York is something else again, however.

McCarthy Makes Good

Joe McCarthy has made good with a bang at New York but another week may see the Yankees falling back into the second division for a spell.

With Ruth, Cook and Hoag injured, the New Yorkers are in a bad way for outfielders. Yesterday McCarthy had to send Charley Ruffing, pitcher, to right field after Cook was hurt.

The Athletics, after a terrible start, are slowly but surely working their way to the top. Considering that the Mackmen trailed all other clubs in both leagues in batting for the first 10 days of the season with a mark of only .216, they have done well to break even thus far. The A's will be picking on the Red Sox for the next few days and should improve their position further.

The New York Giants loom as a sure contender in the National league chase. John McGraw has picked on two promising rookies in John Earley, pitcher, and Johnny Vergez, third baseman. Even with Terry, Ott and O'Farrell doing poor work at bat, the club is leading the National league in hitting.

HUTSELL DEVELOPS HURLERS

Two world champion hurlers, Weems Baskin and Percy Beard, have been turned out at Alabama Poly by Wilbur Hutsell, track coach in his 10th season at Auburn.

Action Against Moreno Is Ended

After two days of testimony in the damage action filed by Antonio Moreno, of Fullerton, against E. Earl Ades, in which the plaintiff was seeking damages totaling $20,000 for the death of his wife, asserted to have been caused by being struck by an auto driven by the defendant as she was crossing Commonwealth avenue near Fullerton last October, Judge James L. Allen stopped the trial with an order of mistrial. The sudden end came when the court learned that the defendant was only 18 years of age and could not legally be sued. Motions for a nonsuit and dismissal had previously been denied by the court.

TIGHTHATERITIS*

BALTIMORE—Girls, if you have it, you'd better start wearing looser hats. By "it" we mean "tighthateritis," a new skin disease reported by British dermatologists and now under study by specialists of John Hopkins hospital. It comes from wearing hats which press against the brow and rupture tiny veins. This causes a red mark to appear and remain across the forehead.

If there are other men with extensive records of membership in the past, the local Y would like to know of them, and would be especially glad to have them present at the birthday dinner on Monday evening.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

EVIL ANALYZED IN SERMON BY LOCAL PASTOR

Based on the text "Thineketh no evil" found in I Corinthians, 13:5, the Rev. Paul Andres preached last night at the Christian Spiritual Science church, 812 North Birch street, on "What Is Evil."

"This question is often asked and I will try to answer it as best I can," he said, "For I believe it has been a stumbling block to many. 'Evil unto them who evil think' is a familiar phrase to most of us, as it has been a favorite text of orthodox ministers. It is just as applicable, if not more so to those of us who profess a belief in Spiritualism.

"How many of us if asked 'What is evil' could give an intelligent answer? I think most of us would say, why any wilful wrong one does another could be classed as something evil. In sense your answer would be correct, but how many of us realize the depth of meaning attached to such a question and its answer? To my mind man can do no evil for I believe evil is something abstract. If a man thinks wrong that is evil. If a man does wrong that is not evil but wicked. The deed is the expression of the thought. Therefore man can do no evil only think evil. And in what a man does we have only the expression as to how he thinks.

"Evil then is that which is within us that has a tendency to be detrimental to our character when it finds expression in some act which is an injustice to ourselves and mankind. We may divide evil into two great groups and these again may be subdivided as follows:

I—Material: (a) against ourselves such as cheating our neighbor or lying to our mother; (b) against our souls such as murder or stealing.

II—Spiritual: (a) against ourselves such as the abuse of medi-umship; against our souls such as the disuse of our God given gifts.

"After a careful perusal of the above one might say that we are entirely evil, because there is not a day goes by that someone will think of something which might prove detrimental to the development of character if it were given expression. But most of these thoughts are never born and will never find expression. Therefore though we think evil we are not necessarily so because our soul is not marred until the evil is expressed in the act.

"Evil is but the offspring of idleness and therefore it is up to us all to have some definite thing to do. As regards our actual living we do, but as regards our thinking we still lack a necessary training to entirely overcome evil. Our minds are not trained as they should be. When young we ought to be given lessons in concentration. Thus we would be apt to get our lessons better in the school of life.

"I believe that I have shown you what evil really is and more than that I have shown you a way to correct it. In closing I can say that a great deal of evil in the world exists in our mind alone and all the wrong that exists in the world is because of ourselves alone. We alone are to blame.

"It is up to us who know, to teach our brothers that the expression of the evil he thinks will do more harm to him than it will to mankind. Mankind may soon forget but man can never forget for his soul is marred until he has worked his own salvation."

PIONEERS' DAUGHTER ATTENDS CEREMONY

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, April 27.—Miss Gladys Landell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Landell, of San Juan Capistrano, was one of a group of young people who attended the unveiling of a monument, erected by the San Diego State Historical society, to Major Fattie, and his group of five adventurers from Kentucky, who were the first white men to arrive in San Diego. Among this group was Nathaniel Pryor, great grandfather of Miss Landell.

Her great grandfather, Nathaniel Pryor, a member of Major Pat-tis's party married Mary Theresa Sepulveda, one of the heirs of the Palos Verdes ranch, in San Pedro.

Her father was Jose Dolores, often referred to as Dolores Sepulveda, the first claimant to the Rancho se Los Palos Verdes. In the year 1824, when returning from Montevideo, where he had gone to see the governor about his title, to his home in Los Angeles, he was unfortunate enough to stop at the Mission de la Purisima Concepcion at a time when the neophytes were in revolt, and on February 21, 1824, he and three other white men at the mission were killed.

Maria Theresa, his daughter, married Nathaniel Pryor. She died in Los Angeles in 1840, and like the mother of Pio Pico, was buried in the Plaza church. At her death she left an infant son, Pablo Pryor, who grew to manhood and married Rosa Avila, the daughter of Juan Avila el Rico, of San Juan Capistrano. Pablo Pryor and Rosa Avila Pryor were the parents of Mrs. Landell's parents and her parents and her grand parents. The grandfather, El Rico, as he was called, lived in the old adobe house, which now adjoins the justice court, over which Judge Landell presides.

LA HABRA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bemis were called to San Diego by the death of Mr. Bemis' father, who passed away there Saturday morning at the age of 71. Funeral services were held at San Diego Monday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Dundas attended the Orange County Fellowship union meeting in Fullerton Monday evening.

OF GOD'S AIM

Advising young people to get a larger vision of the aim, mission and purpose in life and asserting that God created man as a creature that could share Divine thoughts the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor of the First United Brethren church, preached yesterday morning on the subject "Youth's Vision." He said in part:

"God alone is great. Greatness can be contributed to us only when we come into and retain full fellowship with Him; only when we share with Him His thoughts, His spirit, His Holiness, His life in sacrifice self denial, and service of love.

"We need a vision of ourselves. The great majority of us are not conscious of the faculties God has endowed us with. We are not conscious of the power and reach of our eternal being. God's Divine book tells us that after God had swung revolving worlds into space, after He had made this little planet called the earth, placed upon it animal and vegetable life, He looked upon it and pronounced it good, but was not satisfied, until He had given being to a creature that could share His thoughts, His spirit, His Holiness, His life, and Himself.

"The greatest thing in the world therefore is not the shining sun, or a potent law, or even a shining angel; but man created in the image of God. You and I who have the red blood of human life coursing through our veins are endowed with a heritage beyond the price of worlds. We should therefore appreciate more fully why He who knew what was in man, should have said, 'What does it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?'

"We should get a larger vision of our aim, mission and purpose of life. One has said, 'Hitch your wagon to a star.' As Endeavours, we should set high Christian ideals. Take Jesus as the man of our council. Pattern after Him. 'Come out from among the world and be ye separate saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing and I will receive you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters saith the Lord Almighty.'

"Give God the benefit of the doubt in all things that are questionable and you will be safe. We need a vision of the function, mission and purpose of the Church, as the one institution that has kept alive the consciousness that we are immortal beings.

"The Church has always reminded us of the vital fact that man cannot live by bread alone, and that life is more than meat. There is a great danger in this fast age, of organizing the whole life about merchandise, business and pleasure, and crowd out God and the Church and cause the soul to lose the real vision of life. God has a plan for every life. Accept His plan."

MISSIONARY FEDERATION WILL HOLD ITS ANNUAL CONVENTION

With "The World for Christ" as its motto and theme, the nineteenth annual convention of the Federated Missionary societies of this city will open Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church, with representatives from each Missionary society of the city in attendance. Mrs. O. S. Catland will preside, having been elected to the presidency a year ago.

A praise and prayer service will serve as appropriate opening to the all-day session, to be succeeded at 9:45 o'clock by the business interval during which Mrs. Clyde Bach will read the minutes of the previous meeting and Mrs. Percy Gammell will give the treasurer's report. Various committees will be appointed in this hour also.

Morning Program

Mrs. A. N. Glancy will have the next interval with "Night Letters from the Churches" as the theme, followed by Mrs. E. B. Walberg's discussion of Asloman. The musical feature of the morning session aside from congregational singing, will be a solo by Mrs. Charles G. Nalle. "Transforming Grace in the Philippines" will be the subject of a talk by Mrs. J. L. Hooper, while the silver offering, led by Mrs. Elizabeth Clark and devotional period will bring the morning session to a close.

The party was held in Ketner's when a delicious dinner was served at 7 o'clock at tables attractive with bright-colored posies. Both bride and Michigan were played during the after-dinner card session, and attractive prizes were won by Mrs. John Bowe and Max Holmes, scoring high in bridge; Miss Idabel Durgan, holder of low score, and Dr. Elizabeth Tock, high in Michigan.

It was during the interval when the prizes were awarded that Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland acted as spokesman for the assembled guests, and presented a handsome floor lamp to Mrs. Hartke so that her home at 1103 Lowell street, will always have something concrete to remind her of the pleasant associations of seven years.

Santa Ana friends of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. William Everett Roberts and their interesting family, formerly of this city but now of Los Angeles, will be interested indeed to learn of two important events impending in the family history. For Miss Mary Roberts will be a bride in the near future, and her brother, David Roberts, also will join the ranks of the Young Married People, each having announced the engagement just recently.

Recipe For Baking Oranges
A request for a recipe for baking oranges has interest a goodly number of those who use this column.

It seems strange that a fruit as juicy and soft as an orange should be difficult to cook to the point of palatability, but it is true, as some have found to their grief when they have tried to bake whole oranges with ham in the time it takes apples to bake.

Wash and lightly grate the skin of each orange, to permit quicker cooking. Drop the whole oranges into boiling water, cover and cook one hour. Drain and cool, then cut in thick slices or quarters the fruit. Arrange in layers in a covered baking dish, cover with a good syrup and bake slowly for one and one-half or two hours. Lemon juice may be added to the syrup, although not necessary. Spices may be added, or the parboiled oranges can be cut in half, the pithy center hollowed out and a stuffing of minced raisins and nuts put in the hole, then baked in syrup.

Serve the baked oranges hot when used with meat. The cold fruit garnishes a salad beautifully, or can be used, with lettuce, as the chief part of the salad.

ANN MEREDITH.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Fruit Cottage Pudding
Rhubarb or other fruit
Sugar to sweeten fruit

Batter Ingredients

2/3 cup sugar creamed with
3 tablespoons butter
1 egg, well beaten
1/2 cup sweet milk, scant measure

1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon and vanilla mixed
1 rounded teaspoon baking powder

Pastry flour to make thin cake batter

I am giving this recipe today in answer to the request of a reader who says that she used it when I gave it last year, liked it, but forgot how it was made. This recipe was a favorite dessert in my home and I really have no recipe for it. Any light layer cake recipe will do. Just make half of it, not too thick, spread in a thin blanket over the sweetened fruit and bake slowly.

For a family of six cut up about 1/2 pounds tender rhubarb, place in a fairly deep baking dish with

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 1sc, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

That night the tired out Tinies went to quite a queer place. There they spent the night in restful slumber deep. The Travel Man just smiled as all of them jumped into bed. Said he, "Each one's a sleepy head! Nobody gets as tired, I guess, as any active child."

Next morning they were up at dawn. Said one, "The Travel Man has done, I hope he will return real soon. I'm scared here, all alone." "Ha, ha," laughed Scouty. "How you ravel! Why don't you try and be real brave? You wouldn't get so far, if you were put upon your own."

"The Chinese folks are very kind and they'd be nice to us you'd find. But there's no need to worry. Our kind friends will soon return." And he was right. It wasn't long until they heard some footsteps strong. And in walked Mister Travel Man. Said he, "You've lots to learn."

"I've walked around the town and you, I'm sure, will want to do

RULES

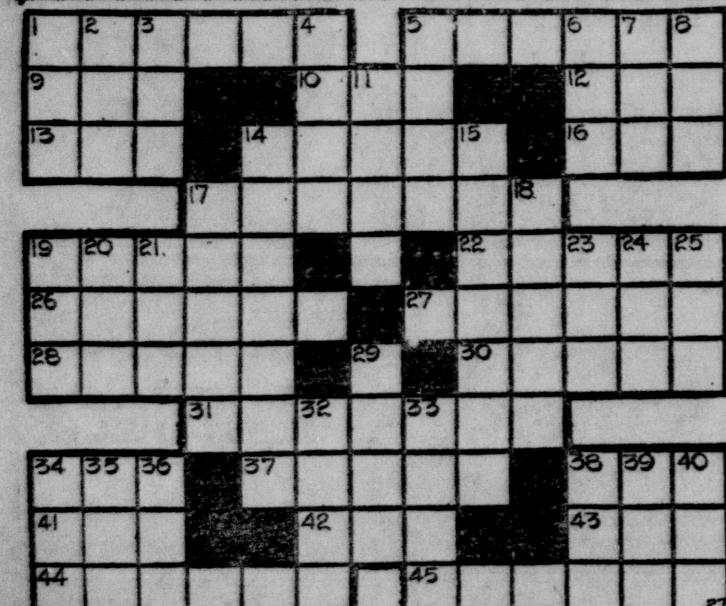

- In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't. TEE-TIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

- Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

NEWPORT BAY BOATS READY FOR SUMMER

NEWPORT BEACH, April 27.—The boating season is opening with promise of Newport bay's biggest year. The boat houses are busy and the yacht club expects a record breaking summer.

Bert J. Griffith, boat builder and repairer, 611 East Bay Front, Balboa, is making an eight-foot skiff for Walter Hubbard's new six meter boat called "The Ripples" now being conditioned. This is one of the fastest boats on the coast in her class. Griffith is also getting R. Russell's outboard racer ready for the season. A skiff is being completed for A. E. Horton, who recently purchased a home at 814 Central avenue. His boat is an outboard combination and Horton is getting ready to enjoy all the delightful enjoyment that a summer at Newport bay affords.

There are three or four large boats to be overhauled during the next few weeks. A. J. Mills, of Anaheim, will recondition his boat "Zaca," the entire interior of which is to be given attention of repairers and redecorators. The "Zaca" is a big boat that can sleep 14 persons and recently completed a 900-mile cruise beyond the waves.

The Newport Boat Building company has two boats on the ways. The Bauers' boat "Sartaria," originally of Huston, Tex., registration, will be on the ways for two weeks. She is a 100-foot schooner and is undergoing a repait job. Mr. Bauers, vice president of Richfield Oil, has one of the biggest boats at Balboa.

Frank S. Hutton, Los Angeles attorney and Newport yachtsman, has his boat "Confidence" tied up for a repait and interior refinishing job.

C. J. Williams, of San Bernardino, of the Quality Mills company, built himself a 45-foot cabin cruiser at San Bernardino and sailed her on wheels to Newport bay, where she is now afloat in the bay and where her owner expects to enjoy happy times this coming summer with his boat.

"Maccaboy," owned by L. S. Strater, Los Angeles and New York capitalist, is on the ways at the Newport Boat Building company for her annual pain job and general overhauling. She is a 54-foot Dawn cruiser.

J. D. Zinke, who made "Zinke's half soles" famous over Los Angeles and all of California, is repaiting and repairing his 40-foot sloop, "Hermes."

When the "Playmate" takes to the water she will evoke plenty of praise. Bill Jeffrey is to handle her most of the time.

Huntington Beach Teacher To Marry Oil Man In June

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 27.—Miss Marian Fleming, school nurse at the elementary school for the past four years, has announced her engagement to Phillip Brooks, engineer for the Standard Oil company at Taft and a Stanford graduate. The wedding is to be a mid-June affair. Names of Miss Fleming and Mr. Brooks were written on tally cards at a bridge luncheon given Saturday at the home of Miss Fleming's sister, Mrs. L. V. Bilton, 4247 Holly Knoll drive, Huntington Beach.

The party was given in honor of Miss Esther Funk, first-grade teacher at the elementary school here, who is going to Europe for the summer. There were nine tables of bridge players. The guests presented Miss Funk with a traying bag.

Miss Fleming will resign her position in the school here at the close of the present term and will make her home in Taft following her marriage.

San Diego Man Hurt When Auto Overturns at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 27.—F. A. Van Riter, San Diego, was painfully cut on the arm when the auto he was driving skidded and overturned at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning on the Coast highway east of First street at the same point in which a similar accident occurred a week ago in which a Hollywood high school boy lost his life. Van Riter was driving west on the highway when a car going east, in passing another car, crowded the Van Riter auto off the highway and the wheels skidded on the dirt shoulder of the road, wet with rain. The auto turned over twice.

Alvin Koeng witnessed the accident and took Van Riter to the Emergency hospital, where Dr. Ralph E. Hawes gave first aid. Aside from the long cut on the arm extending from shoulder to wrist, Riter escaped with minor bruises and was able to return to his home in San Diego.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," La-

1300 PERSONS ATTEND SCHOOL WEEK PROGRAM

ROAD PROJECT EXPLAINED FOR LAGUNA GROUP

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 27.—Public School weeks, fostered by the Masons, to maintain public interest in the public schools, closed here Friday night with a joint program given by the high school and elementary school at the civic center.

Highly interesting displays of school work were arranged in various rooms of the school, showing the progress of school work from the lower grades of the elementary school through the high school years. The work as shown enabled the public to grasp an intelligent idea of the training that the modern public school is attempting to give the children to help them in the duties or business that they will be called upon to carry on after the years at school are ended.

In Mr. Brooks' mechanical arts department of the high school, the display included tools the students had made at the school, steel hammers, lathes and other tools. In the wood shop display were well made articles turned out by the students including everything from ornamental candlesticks to library tabs and cedar chests.

Mr. Fraser's science class demonstrated chemical work. Mr. Miner's biology classes had highly interesting displays, including collection of specimens. Miss Schrimpf's sewing and designing class had a creditable display of work by the students. Miss Martha Trafford's room was a bower of beauty with original drawings, paintings and other art work.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Caulkins, domestic science instructor, who was assisted by the girls in the cooking class.

The music and literary program was most interesting and both schools contributed. The Rev. G. H. Gust of the Christian church invoked a blessing on the schools at the opening of the program. Superintendent M. G. Jones welcomed the guests in a short address.

Following the excellent program every one went to the cafeteria, where a committee representing the sponsoring organizations greeted them and served refreshments. The remainder of the evening was devoted to a social time, school patrons getting better acquainted with each other and with the faculty members of the schools.

Reorganization of the civic committee, created several months ago, took place. New members were added and A. B. Marshall, former president of the chamber of commerce, was made temporary president, taking the place of Thomas A. Cummings. The latter said he could not give time to the work but was willing to be on the committee.

Mr. Marshall outlined the purpose of the committee as being to study problems of the community and recommend for action what seemed the best course to be taken.

That this community has an ample water supply, that it had, on Friday evening, 4,455,000 gallons of water stored within the city limits, a supply adequate for 13 days, and that the wells show no signs of being exhausted, were points explained by Thomas A. Cummings, supplemented by points made by Frank B. Champion.

Tracing the history of the Laguna Beach City Water district from its inception, touching briefly on tests which were made to determine the capacity of 120 acres of water-bearing lands purchased and of the quality of the water, telling of the bond issue and of the anxious period of a year during which the elected five directors took personal responsibility for $155,000. Mr. Cummings brought his data up to date, answering many questions.

He explained the interest that the Irvine company has in the pipeline, this being 52 per cent of the carrying capacity, a contract arrived at through building of the pipe line by the Irvine company, with sale of it to the water district, and a contract sold to the Irvine company for the carrying rights. Many citizens do not understand this, he explained. No water has yet been pumped through this line by the Irvine company, Mr. Cummings asserted.

High school contributions to the program were dances by the girls' physical education students and songs by the girls' junior and senior glee clubs directed by Mrs. Ruth L. Harlow and a one-act play by the dramatics class directed by Miss Benson.

The elementary school contributions to the program included numbers from the kindergarten directed by Miss Beatrice Douglass and Miss Terrace Leone Schaeffer, teachers in that department. A minuet was given by fifth grade students directed by Miss Katherine Scales. Bird interpretations were given by first grade students directed by Mrs. Edith Manley. Spanish songs and dances by fourth grade pupils directed by Miss Fern Greenwald were presented. Pioneer scenes from California days of romance were presented by Jean Ree, Jean Wood, Harriet Ridenour, Bettie Clark, Jeanne Nell and Margaret Clark, directed by Miss Rita Alkens.

High school contributions to the program were dances by the girls' physical education students and songs by the girls' junior and senior glee clubs directed by Mrs. Ruth L. Harlow and a one-act play by the dramatics class directed by Miss Benson.

Plano selections were played by Miss Eleanor Wisner. Ruth and Richard Keeler played a violin and piano duet. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Christina Todd, Miss Nancy Nichols and Ruth Keeler.

Master Goldsmith's three-piece orchestra of Long Beach played during the style show. Comedy for the show was fashions of 1881 modeled by Mrs. C. B. Henry and Mrs. L. W. Schauer.

Mrs. H. C. Robbin was mistress of ceremonies.

Kiwanis Clubs To Convene May 4 In Spanish Village

SAN CLEMENTE, April 27.—San Clemente, Fallbrook and Oceanside Kiwanis clubs will observe "All Kiwanis night" at a meeting to be held at A. Travaglini's cafe, May 4 at 6 o'clock. There will be a 15 minute period which will be observed simultaneously with the international convention and a message from the president of Kiwanis will be read.

Twenty-five members of the Anaheim club attended the session Friday. The Anaheim club furnished entertainment for the meeting. George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, talked on the Orange show and County fair.

J. W. Price, president of the Anaheim chapter headed the visiting delegation. The meeting was in charge of Glen Merrill, Roy Mendoza entertained with several singing numbers, accompanying himself on the guitar. The club singing was led by Percy Olds.

Evangelist Brown drew a vivid picture of two examples of typical leadership and opposite leadership. He pictured Moses on the mountain, receiving the tablets of stone, written by the finger of God. Returning to the camp of the Israelites Moses heard a great commotion and discovered an appalling thing had happened. The people of the tribe had left the worship of the real God and were prostrate on the ground worshipping idols of gold. Then the evangelist pictured Moses as drawing a line on the ground and in a thundering voice, shouting, "Who is on the Lord's side?"

"Men and women of Fullerton, if Jesus Christ should come here tonight and walk into this building, where would He find you where with the upward look, true of heart, or would He find you where He found the children of Israel were found—worshiping the things of the world, the god of gold, the god of lust, the god of fashion, the god of pleasure?" the Rev. Mr. Brown asked.

"They live on the other side of Calvary; we live on this side of the cross, this side of Damascus road, with its lightning flash from Heaven, this side of the Isle of Patmos with choirs of Heaven revealed."

"There are three great steps to be taken for a great revival in this community, and like in the days of Moses those steps are separation, unity and third, service. If the churches will meet these three steps and strike for God and home, we can shake this country for Christ."

GARDEN GROVE, April 27.—The 5th birthday anniversary of the Garden Grove chapter, Order of Eastern Star, was observed at the Masonic hall last week. A feature of the evening was a style show, with the courtesy of Alquist's dress shop of Santa Ana. Sports wear, beach pajamas and house dresses and afternoon and evening gowns were modeled by the following: Mrs. Jessie Bounger, matron of the Long Beach chapter; Miss Gertrude Jentges, Mrs. Dorothy Jentges, Mrs. J. O. Smith, Nancy Nichols and Ruth Keele.

often sought his counsel on coaching problems.

Harper as coach was a firm, businesslike instructor, with no favorites. He had the knack of quickly recognizing ability and, like Rockne, always could get the boys to "play over their heads" by application of inspirational persuasion.

It was under Harper that Notre Dame instituted its 3-year eligibility rule, and he was a strict administrator of the laws of amateurism.

of Stanford, while the broad jump will have outstanding men in Dick Barber of S. C. and Arnold West of the Cards, both of whom have hit around the 24-7 mark.

Jim Stewart of Southern California will be the favorite in the high jump if his injured back, which has kept him far below his usual form, is sufficiently recovered.

Predictions of most pepsters are that the winner of the meet will be decided by the relay. If this is the case it is quite likely that the relay will turn out to be the fastest one in the history of intercollegiate competition.

Meta Paulus, Arnold Otto and Evelyn Paulus entertained the Walther League of St. Paul's Lutheran church Thursday evening. Miss Sarah Goldin delivered an oration on "The Lutheran Hour," the regular Columbia broadcast of the Lutheran Laymen's league, and was unanimously voted to represent the Olive League at the district contest to be held in Walker hall, Orange, on the evening of May 8.

NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, April 27.—(UPI)—Curb stocks broke to new low levels for the bear market today following announcement of suspension of another large brokerage firm. Utilities and oils were single leaders, with few exceptions, the list as a whole sold off.

Exceptions to the decline included Continental Shares, Series B and Convertible Preferred, the latter rising almost 1 point on announcement that control of the company had been shifted to Cleveland bankers.

Early gains in some of the power and light leaders were wiped out as bear operations gained increasing momentum and new lower levels.

Ed. & Am. C. Citrus Service, California Power and Light and United Light and Power B, the latter breaking more than 6 points.

United Light A maintained a fractional advance.

NEW YORK BONDS

NEW YORK, April 27.—(UPI)—Weakness in stock resulted in renewed selling on the bond market today and, with the exception of U. S. Government and other high grade issues, the entire list was depressed.

South American issues were the weak link, Brazil, Uruguay, Uruguayan and Colombian obligations being in large supply at declining levels.

European issues, which have been displaying some resistance to the recent trend were tested, with Germany and Italy 5% sold off.

Railroad and industrial bonds were in supply, but price movements generally were narrow. Utilities and local tractions were mixed.

George Tinsley has been confined to his home at 320 Crest avenue, with tonsilitis.

M. G. Jones, Mrs. Ruth Harlow, Fred Brooks and Miss Squires of the high school faculty took a group of high school students to Pasadena Wednesday to attend a dress rehearsal of "The Prince of Pilsen," which they are considering for the high school opera next year. The students were Verna Helm, Phyllis Jones, June Rinell, Agnes DeBusk, Dorothy Prescott, Ted Severson, Roy Wetzel, Glenn Lee, Cleo Smith, George Weidman, Arthur Thornton, John Albert Onson, Arden Hall, Maurice King and Jack Proctor.

Register Water Program

1.—THAT ORANGE COUNTY, OR AS MUCH OF THE COUNTY AS IS WILLING TO DO SO, SHALL BECOME A PART OF THE METROPOLITAN WATER DISTRICT.

2.—THAT WATER NOW BEING WASTED THROUGH EVAPORATION AND TRANSPERSION IN THE PRADO BASIN SHALL BE SAVED.

3.—THAT SEWAGE WATER FROM THE CITIES SHALL BE SALVAGED AND RECLAIMED FOR USE.

4.—THAT A PROGRAM FOR FLOOD CONTROL BE DEVELOPED, WITH FLOOD CONTROL AS THE PRINCIPAL AIM, AND THE SAVING OF THE FLOOD WATER INCIDENTAL THERETO.

WILL DIVIDE THE COUNTY

The Assembly bill number 1861, introduced by Mr. Craig, which is known as the "Orange County Water Savings and Replenishment District" bill has been amended and is up for its third reading in the assembly.

These amendments do not, however, eliminate from the bill the most serious objections to its passage. To begin with, Orange county is in the very midst of a development of sentiment for a program on which all parts of the county should be united, and any proposition that attempts to set up one portion of the county as against another part tends to divide. Not only does this bill provoke litigation, but apparently primarily for the very purpose of conducting litigation. It is the last thing which should be done and is certainly out of harmony with the spirit which alone spells a real future for Orange county.

This bill would set up a portion of the county in opposition to other sections of the county. Under its amendments it still permits the district which it creates to go outside of its own boundaries to take water, but forbids the very districts outside from which it might get water, to come into this district that is created, for water. This is inequitable and for the purposes of unity in the county it is absurd.

Take Lemon Heights for example. If this bill passes, Lemon Heights would be denied its opportunity to get an additional water supply from within this district. That might entirely defeat the development of one of the finest sections of our suburban territory. It would further shut out Brea, a portion of Fullerton, Newport Heights, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach and Costa Mesa.

Further, it is very ill considered to establish a district, superimposing it arbitrarily upon sections of a county, some portions of which are in other water districts, giving it similar powers to others, without any engineering or other consideration of what would be the cost of doing the things proposed, and further of what would be the results if the efforts were made and success attained. To be sure, it now eliminates the organized municipalities within the boundaries described in the bill, but there is no arrangement or provision made in the measure for those conditions which will affect sections that are now in the district should they vote themselves in as a part of a municipality which is now eliminated.

In other words, if a section now in this district becomes a part of Fullerton, Anaheim, or Santa Ana or another city, it could still be taxed in the former district and taxed in the city. It would thereby defeat the very growth of municipalities.

In the reading of the bill as we have given it, we do not note that there is any limit to the tax permitted by trustees who may be elected for this district. We wonder if those who imagine that they are going to profit from the erection of this district realize their taxes which are as high as they can bear, can under the provisions of this measure go to any extent, because being a special act, no limitation applies. We are confident that those whose interest has been temporarily enlisted in the organization of this district have not considered the difficulties that would be encountered in equitably distributing any reclaimed sewage water, saying nothing about the cost of such reclamation plan, plus the distributing aqueducts. If the Anaheim Union Water Company or the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company alone were interested in this reclamation of sewage, it would be simply the cost of the reclaiming the water and establishing the plant. They already have their distributing system reaching to their members, but there is no such system reaching to those who are in this district who are not members of these two water companies.

An aqueduct system in which this could be equitably distributed would cost an immense amount of money to the proposed district. These other companies could do this under powers that they now have,—then the rest of the county would get the benefit by reason of the fact that what water is not drawn upon is left for the rest.

Under this bill, engineers can be employed and lawyers can be employed. Expenses can be incurred, unlimited as far as we can see. We sincerely hope that at this time, when the county is getting together, that no divisive action of this kind will be passed which will complicate seriously the difficulties which are already great in uniting the county for a forward movement. The greatest need is unity, a simplification of conditions and not that which tends to destroy the unity and divide the county.

A PRESSING PROBLEM

A most serious situation confronts the people of Santa Ana and particularly our city council in respect to the problem of unemployment. Through various agencies, with the city authorities leading the way, Santa Ana has to a degree been aiding in the care of those out of work and who needed employment so that acute distress, at least, has been relieved. But the city funds which were available for that purpose have been exhausted and the strain on other agencies has weakened them and there is a tendency toward exhaustion. At the same time hundreds of men and women, normally wage earners, some of our finest citizens personally are in absolute necessity of income or there will be positive hunger as well as other distress. Either there must be some agency which will be furnished means through voluntary offering or the city itself must devise some method to obtain money either for loan, gift, or furnishing service and paying therefor.

Many other cities have voted bonds upon themselves to meet this great emergency. It is rather remarkable that Santa Ana has gotten along as well as she has to the present time. And Santa Ana has practically done it alone. All other sections of the county have been aided by the county but not so Santa Ana and she is to be congratulated on the work done so far.

We cannot help taking this occasion to say that those who know how the work has been done and the force behind it recognize that the city engineer, Clyde Jenken who has just turned in his resignation is that one individual for whom the degree of success already attained is very largely responsible. He has worked for the unemployed not only in the way of providing city work for them but in enlisting the interest of those who might have employment for the unemployed. He has organized methods, he has devised means, he has worked in season and out of season and his loss from this department of the city's life in our judgment will be a very serious one. We know of no one as intelligent and as deeply interested to officially take it up. Others have co-operated and done their part, but we feel this should be said of his work.

In any case, the problem is before us and we should all unite upon the plan to take care of the unfortunate people in our city.

DEAN WAITE ON COLLEGE

Dean Alice Waite, of Wellesley college, who is about to retire after thirty-five years of service in an interview the other day said that it is possible for a girl to have brains enough to stay away from college. The statement will be made much of by those who oppose a college education for any girl. There are those who still hold to that opinion.

As usual, however, truth or wisdom lies about midway between the extremes of the two opinions on college education for girls. "It is a great pity," said Dean Waite, "that girls feel there is a stigma attached to not going to college, and that once in college they feel it is a disgrace to leave and make other plans."

People with college training, unless they are rare prigs will be the first to agree with Dean Waite. Varied types of people make the world interesting.

Fortunate indeed is the individual who has so manifest a gift for some one particular thing, whether for music, painting, homemaking or society or business that it can be discerned sufficiently early in life so that it can be trained while the individual is still going through the period definitely set aside for learning. Other people without such manifest gifts drift into college, not because they are particularly scholarly, but because they do not know what else to do. Many times, as the years advance, they become revealed as far less fortunate than the ones without a degree but with a strongly developed trait.

Candidates For Fame

Christian Science Monitor

The trustees of the British National Portrait Gallery are in a difficulty about bringing their collection up to date. They are facing the fact that owing to the growth of photography fewer portraits of highly distinguished men are painted than of old; and those which exist often find their way to other institutions, owing to a rule which normally forbids the admission of a picture until ten years after the subject has passed on. They are therefore seeking to contrive a plan by which paintings or drawings of distinguished contemporaries may be purchased, and stored until the time is ripe for their exhibition.

A national portrait gallery, if it is to deserve its name, should be representative collection of portraits of all the nation's greatest men. But the practical difficulty is, "Who are the greatest men among our contemporaries?" Under the existing British system, there is danger of excluding many who really are among these greatest. Under the proposed plan, some of the selection, standing the test of time, will be boldly exhibited to the public gaze, and others—how many would they be?—will be relegated to the lumber room in the lowest cellar.

And how widely must the net be cast if justice is to be done? Thomas Hardy would never have been included if the majority who condemned his greatest novels when they first appeared had been able to vote him down. In America, would Abraham Lincoln have been included by any decision taken before the Civil war? Or Walt Whitman, at any time when he was writing his best poems?

And, conversely, how many idols of the market place might we not be tempted to include?

Fame is a tricky thing. One should not forget that it means something for a man to be celebrated in his own time. The greatest work that is done by most great men is done for their contemporaries, and it may happen that the latter may sometimes be more right than a forgetful posterity. But the more fleeting tributes will suffice for the more fleeting reputations. The national galleries are the shrines for those that endure. A means should be found by the trustees in London for winnowing the wheat from the chaff.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TO A CAT

You have but scant regard for me;
You think that I was born
And still am living just to be
The object of your scorn.
My hand disdainfully you sniff
The while I stroke your fur
And think that you repay me if You purr.

Though now and then a mouse you kill,
Which you disdain as food,
You do it for the hunter's thrill
And not in gratitude.

All forms of useful toil you spurn,
You'd rather lie an dream
That do the lightest stroke to earn
Your cream.

At your loud mandatory meow
I shall, as well you know,
Manipulate the door for you
The while you come or go.
Without capacity for love,
From charity exempt,
You're just a fury bundle of Contempt.

But still you decorate the room
And though your scornful stare
And haughty mien that you assume
Are sometimes hard to bear,
You're wise to hold your regal sway.
I cheerfully admit,
As long as you can get away
With it.

Saturday nite I was suppose to take a bath as usual, and I sed.

Well G, ma, why cant I take it when I get up tomorrow morning?
Because youre going to take it rite now, ma sed.

Though now and then a mouse you kill,
Which you disdain as food,
You do it for the hunter's thrill
And not in gratitude.

Wait a minute. Look at yourself in that mirror over there. Do you see a very expensive lady?
Your shoes cost about what one of the boys could earn in a week.

Your hat, another week's wages.
The dress you wear, the beads, the purse you carry, your costume would stagger any boy of our acquaintance. How could he ever earn so much?"

"He wouldn't have to. My goodness,
I don't care about these clothes. My father gives them to me. He wants me to look nice. I want to look nice. Boys don't want to go out with a girl unless she is a good dresser."

"True enough, but they don't want to buy the dresses. It's very nice to go to a party with the best-dressed girl in town. But marrying comes first, but a household girls will only remember that and give the boys a hint that they can and they will stand by and help, some of them will be married right soon. How do I know? The boys

Afraid to Bid

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Myrtle A. Bennett, of Kansas City, killed her husband as the result of a quarrel over a game of contract bridge. This tragedy could have been prevented very easily, says Ely Culbertson. The trouble all started because Mr. Bennett overbid his hand.

Mr. Bennett had no strength in his hand except three Kings; and three Kings are not much to rely on, these days, either in bridge or in politics. He had only five spades to the Jack-King; four cards to the King; the King and Ten of Clubs; and two small diamonds.

Nevertheless, Mr. Bennett opened with a bid of one spade. "It was an atrocious bid," says Culbertson. "He should have held at least two and one half honor tricks in his hands, and he did not. If he had not overbid his hand, he would be alive today."

That seems to be equally true of a good many business concerns. It is true, no doubt, of a large proportion of the 26,355 that failed last year. It is true, also, of most of the 1,345 banks that failed last year.

But excessive optimism breeds excessive pessimism. When a bridge player becomes so optimistic that all his Jacks look like Aces, he is liable to get set for a good round score; even if he doesn't get shot. Then he becomes fearful and over-cautious. All his Aces look like Jacks. He passes. He keeps on passing. He doesn't dare to bid game, even on a hand which once looked good for a grand slam.

That is the chief trouble with American bankers and business men today. They are afraid to bid what their hands are worth.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

COMPETITION AND CONTROL

The guaranty of competition was one of the war cries of the old liberalism.

It was naively thought that the public would be safe from exploitation by sinister private interests of a free field and no favors could be assured.

Accordingly we elaborated all sorts of restrictive anti-trust laws.

It is beginning to dawn upon us that competition is no cure-all.

The recovery of the world from the current economic tangle cannot be realized through the net result of the competition of millions of small-sized businesses and short sighted business men.

Whether we like it or not, some sort of central planning must enter the field of the world's economic activity.

I should dislike to live under the stern disciplinary planning of Soviet Russia or of Fascist Italy.

But I dislike to be forced to live in the helter-skelter insecurity of a planless America.

Every day more Americans reluctantly believe that we are shut up to a choice between two equally distasteful alternatives. They are:

The discipline of dictatorship.

The dishevelling of democracy.

I decline to believe that these are the only ways of life for us.

I used to put the alternatives of modern life as follows:

The immediately efficient and ultimately inefficient policy of dictatorship.

The immediately inefficient and ultimately efficient policy of democracy.

I am convinced now that this statement falls short of the truth, for democracy does not have to be inefficient from day to day and depend for its justification solely on the fact that, in the long run, it is better than having all the eggs of the nation's life in one basket of dictatorship.

But if democracy is to stabilize and make efficient our economic order it must substitute controlled concentration of power for an attempted control through competition.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PRICED TOO HIGH

One of the girls who was graduated from our school several years ago stopped into the office to talk to me. "I'm still working in the shop. I like the work and my father likes to have me with him. But you know I want to be married and have children and a home of my own.

"Well?"

"Nobody asks me. I have plenty of beau. But they drop off and
